1. Introduction

Alberta Indigenous Opportunities Corporation (AIOC) has been established to facilitate and backstop up to $1 billion in investment by Indigenous communities in natural resource, agriculture, transportation and telecommunications projects. AIOC, a first-of-its-kind Crown corporation in Canada, serves an aspirational and transformational function by supporting Indigenous communities to expand their investments in natural resource, agriculture, transportation and telecommunications sectors, and realize the corresponding economic benefits within the community – benefits not only for the short term but also for generations to come.

This Mandate and Roles Document has been developed collaboratively by the Minister of Indigenous Relations (Minister) and Alberta Indigenous Opportunities Corporation (AIOC), according to the Alberta Public Agencies Governance Act (APAGA).

Although AIOC operates independently and at arm's length from the Government of Alberta, there is broad cooperation and collaboration between AIOC and the Government of Alberta.

Each of AIOC and the Government of Alberta consider it necessary and advisable to define and communicate the respective responsibilities and accountabilities of AIOC and the Government of Alberta relative to the execution of AIOC's mandate.

legal obligations. Rather, it describes and reflects the mandate of AIOC, its relationship with the Minister, its governance and operational structure, and respective roles, accountabilities, and responsibilities.

APAGA requires that this MRD be reviewed and renewed, amended or replaced within three years after it was made or most recently amended.

2. Governing Law

2.1 Statutory Mandate of AIOC

The AIOC Act establishes AIOC as a corporation. It operates at arm's length from the Government of Alberta and on commercial terms. It is governed by a professional Board that is independent of the Government of Alberta and AIOC management.

Under Section 2 of the AIOC Act, the Government of Alberta has assigned AIOC the responsibility for delivery of the following services:

- Provide practical measures such as increasing access to capital for Indigenous communities to facilitate Indigenous communities' investment and participation in commercially reasonable and viable natural resource, agriculture, transportation and telecommunications development projects (and related infrastructure);
- Provide investment, technical and financial support for commercially reasonable and viable projects that support the responsible development of Alberta's resources; and
- Provide support to commercially reasonable and viable projects that will provide a return on investment for Indigenous communities and the Province of Alberta.

AIOC will consider demonstrated benefits to Alberta's Indigenous communities, among other criteria, when assessing applications and making funding decisions.

2.2 AIOC Status

AIOC is, by statute, "for all purposes an agent of the Crown in right of Alberta", which means:

- The Government of Alberta ultimately has legal responsibility for all debts, liabilities and obligations of AIOC; and
- AIOC is entitled to all legal immunities and any applicable rights and benefits of the Government of Alberta.

AIOC is a “Provincial corporation” as that term is defined in the Financial Administration Act (Alberta).

2.3 Applicable Legislation and Regulations

In addition to the AIOC Act, AIOC has duties and obligations under various other Alberta statutes, most significantly the following:

- the Alberta Public Agencies Governance Act, which applies to AIOC as a “public agency” under that Act;
- the Conflicts of Interest Act, which applies to AIOC as a “public agency” under that Act;
- the Financial Administration Act, which governs AIOC as a “Provincial corporation”;
- the Fiscal Planning and Transparency Act, which requires AIOC, as an “accountable organization” that is part of the Minister’s “ministry”, to provide a business plan and annual report for each fiscal year;
- the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, which applies to AIOC as a “public body” under that Act;
- the Lobbyists Act, which applies to AIOC as a “public agency” under that Act;
- the Public Interest Disclosure (Whistleblower Protection) Act, which applies to AIOC as a “public entity” under that Act;
- the Public Sector Compensation Transparency Act, which specifies compensation disclosure requirements for “public sector bodies”; and
- the Reform of Agencies, Boards and Commissions Compensation Act, which establishes the compensation framework for AIOC.

Because AIOC is a “Provincial corporation”, the Auditor General of Alberta is the auditor of AIOC.

AIOC is not subject to the Public Service Act.

AIOC’s procurement practices are subject to the New West Partnership Trade Agreement and the Canadian Free Trade Agreement, entered into by the Government of Alberta.

2.4 Decision-Making

AIOC has the authority and discretion to make decisions about financial support, capacity building services, and operations, provided they are not in contravention of any Act, Regulation, or Order-in-Council to which AIOC is subject.

The AIOC Act defines the financial instruments that AIOC can deploy; authorization to use a specific instrument must be requested by AIOC through the Ministry of Indigenous Relations and Treasury Board and Finance by means of an Order-in-Council. This authorization is a requirement under the Financial Administration Act. Requirements outlined in the Order-in-Council relating to the financial mechanism must be adhered to by AIOC.

Decisions requested by AIOC from Cabinet, the Minister of Indigenous Relations, or other government bodies, including appointments and authorization of financial mechanisms, will be coordinated with the Ministry of Indigenous Relations. This process may include the Ministry developing decision documents, providing advice to AIOC, and coordinating decision packages.

3. Governance

3.1 Directors

Pursuant to the AIOC Act, the Directors of AIOC are appointed by an order of the Lieutenant Governor in Council. A Director may be appointed for a term not exceeding three years and is eligible for reappointment subject to a maximum of 10 years of continuous service. The Board Chair and Board Vice-Chair are formally designated by order of the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

The recruitment and appointment process for Directors is guided by the provisions of APAGA and is subject to generally applicable policies established by the Government of Alberta. Director appointments will be made with the intention of creating a Board comprised of individuals who, in aggregate, have the full range of proven skills, knowledge and experience necessary to effectively oversee AIOC in achieving its objectives. The Board is committed to the following principles:

- The Director recruitment and appointment process is open, transparent, and competency-based.
- The competence of Directors is recognized as being of paramount importance.

- The Board will be comprised of a diverse range of qualified individuals, who can effectively execute their mandates in the best interest of Albertans.
